Matt Long named 'Maryland's Strongest Cop' for second time

Directorate of Law Enforcement and Security police officer Matt Long dead lifts 700 pounds to win his second consecutive Maryland's Strongest Cop competition, an annual event benefiting the Special Olympics of Maryland hosted by the Howard County Police Department. The event was held at the Colosseum Gym in Columbia Aug. 14.

The Directorate of Law Enforcement and Security's Matt Long won his second consecutive Maryland's Strongest Cop contest held at the Colosseum Gym in Columbia Aug. 14.

During the powerlifting meet, a 600-pound squat, 470-pound bench press, and a 700-pound dead lift were Long's accomplishments.

"Much of my success is from support I get from my coach, family and friends," Long said.

The second annual meet, sponsored by the Howard County Police Department, the Maryland Law Enforcement Torch Run and Colosseum Gym, benefited the Special Olympics of Maryland. The competitors included men and women from 10 different law enforcement agencies across the state. They competed in a full powerlifting meet which included bench press, dead lift and squat.

Four other DLES officers competed along with Long. They included Tracy Graves and Barry Krehnbrink, who won first place overall for their weight classes. Jeremy Rondone, who won second place overall for his weight class. Miranda Tate also had an impressive showing.

"I admit I am very competitive, but it is especially rewarding to win with my peer police officers," Long said.

"Each of us devoted a lot of time in the gym preparing for this competition. This was our first time competing as a team, and we were pleased that our entire team placed. As an added bonus, everyone went home with a good feeling knowing they had helped the Special Olympics," he said.

Graves squatted 185 pounds, bench pressed 160 pounds and dead lifted 300 to win her weight class. She said the APG team was among the top competitors.

"Four out of five of us got trophies and a lot of our people came out to support us," Graves said. "That made it even more special."

The mission of the Law Enforcement Torch Run is to raise both funds and awareness of the Special Olympics movement worldwide.

"The most amazing thing about this partnership is that the men and women in law enforcement who take the time to support our citizens with intellectual disabilities do so not out of pity or because the boss makes them," said Tom Schniedwind Sr., vice president of Sports Marketing for SOMD. "They do this out of friendship, out of respect, and out of love - and it is that personal commitment to this effort that has made events like this one so successful."

Police remind parents, children about bus safety

Officer Mike Farlow
DLES

It's back-to-school time and many parents are breathing a sigh of relief that their children made it through another summer unscathed.

School is just around the corner and most of the children on Aberdeen Proving Ground ride the bus.

The APG Police would like to remind everyone to be safe while walking to the bus stop and to remember:

- Use sidewalks wherever possible when walking to the bus stop.

- Always stop at the curb, or any driveway, which crosses a sidewalk.

- Look LEFT-RIGHT-LEFT to make sure the road is clear before crossing the street.

- Walk on the left facing traffic, if walking in the road.

- Always cross at the corner.

- Be safe, be seen. Look the driver in the eye to know that he or she has seen you.

Aberdeen Proving Ground housing residents joined police officers from the Directorate of Law Enforcement and Security to take a stand against crime during the installation's first National Night Out Against Crime Aug. 12.

Community policing officer Mike "Big Mike" Farlow hosted the event at the McGruff House, 3847-E Flag Court in Patriot Village.

Farlow said that this was the first year the APG community has been involved with the NNO program, which is sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch.

"The program is designed to heighten crime, drug and violence prevention awareness, and strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships, as well as send a message to criminals letting them know that our neighborhoods are organized and fighting back," Farlow said.

The event included crime prevention videos, child identification kits, personal item engraving, and information about the Neighborhood Crime Watch program. Cindy Scott of the Army Substance Abuse Program provided a display on commonly used drugs and gave away "Drug Free and Proud" memorabilia including book covers and pre-school packs of rulers, pencils and "Erase Drugs" erasers.

"It's important to keep the drug free message going wherever people are," Scott said.

APG plans Community Awareness Day

Rebecca J. Chisholm
APG News

Aberdeen Proving Ground's first Community Awareness Day will take place Oct. 15, bringing the Fire Department, Police Department, Army Substance Abuse Program office, Morale, Welfare and Recreation, Army Community Service, Child and Youth Services and other APG organizations together to offer information and activities promoting kitchen safety.

The day starts with a Community Drug Free Fun Run sponsored by the ASAP at 10 a.m., ending at the APG Fire Department where more events will take place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., rain or shine.

During the day, parents and children can help McGruff the crime dog celebrate his 25th birthday. There will be K-9 demonstrations, surprise visitors, sports activities for youths and adults, door prizes and fun for all ages.

The fire department will be doing a live fire demonstration.

Representatives from ASAP will showcase

Red Ribbon Month, and Child Youth Services will be sponsoring a magic show and bounce house.

A booth to learn to create healthy recipes for parents and children will be available as well as a number of static displays, sports competitions and demonstrations for families to participate in together.

Many of the APG tenant activities will be supporting the event with booths and demonstrations.

More surprises are in store as the community gears up for this event. Plenty of giveaways and prizes will be available.

"The planning committee is looking for ideas and support from the entire APG community, as the purpose behind Community Awareness Day is to bring the entire post together," said Doug Farrington, firefighter and planning committee chairman.

Anyone interested in helping, or any organization interested in having a display or booth at the event is encouraged to call Farrington, 410-305-0523.

Former Lee Court housing area up for sale

Story and photos by
Yvonne Johnson
APG News

A former Aberdeen Proving Ground housing area has been declared excess government property and is now up for sale to the highest bidder.

The Lee Court Apartments, located on Nuttal Avenue in Edgewood, housed Soldiers stationed on the Edgewood Area of APG and their family members until 1999.

Fran Epps, project manager and a contractor with Inuit/LB&B Associates, Inc., along with Susan B. Webb, U.S. General Services Administration, hosted the first of two open houses for prospective purchasers Aug. 17.

The 17.68-acre complex includes 25 buildings containing 71 two-three-and four bedroom apartments.

Epps, whose office provides administrative and technical support to the Directorate of Installation Operations, said the process of disposal began after the last family moved out of the complex in 1999.

"We prepared a report of excess which involves compiling numerous reports and complying with other requirements that include boarding up the property," Epps said.

The report goes to the Army Corps of Engineers who then forwards it to the GSA, which accepts property for disposal, she added.

"It's a very lengthy process," Epps said, "And it took us years to get to this point."

She credited Nathan

Osborne, realty technical contractor, with assisting in the process.

"He's worked on it nearly every day," she said, adding that her office handles all the building disposals on the installation to include demolitions.

"This is just another form of disposal," Epps said.

Webb said that there was "tons of interest" in the Lee Court site.

"I've received at least one e-mail a day for the last two months inquiring about this property," Webb said.

She and her assistant, Vitaliya Dashaevskaya, greeted and registered visitors, distributed flashlights, and answered questions during the open house.

The GSA sells multi-million dollar properties routinely, Webb said, noting that along with the purchase, buyers must meet local, state and federal standards before officially taking ownership of the property.

"In this case, purchasers must provide a certificate of completion of lead abatement, certifying that they have eliminated all lead-based paint hazards before they are granted ownership," Webb said.

Quarters E-6663 in the former Lee Court Apartments in Edgewood stands open and ready for inspection during the GSA open house sponsored by the Directorate of Installation Operations Aug. 17.

In addition, special terms and conditions stipulate that purchasers agree to comply with federal, state and local regulations governing the use of property on or near wetlands including but not limited to Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, and Section 404 of the Clean Water Act.

The next open house will be held 1 to 4 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 20 followed by a public auction 10 a.m., Sept. 21, at the Richlin Ballroom in Edgewood.

FCC celebrates Stand for Children Day

The threat of impending rain did not dampen the enthusiasm of Family Child Care's 7th annual Stand for Children Day held June 29.

The children's event, which took place at APG's Maryland Boulevard Park, was held in recognition of the annual Children's Defense Fund celebration in Washington, D.C.

"Stand for Children Day is a wonderful tradition here at APG, and it's something the children really enjoy," said Beverly Hartgrove of the Child Youth Services Division.

The morning opened with Silly Joe, who entertained the children and adults in the audience with his high-energy songs about the every day lives of children and families.

With an unlikely combination of a guitar, a loud voice, a wig, a kazoo, boxer shorts and a lot of goofy body movements, Silly Joe sings about family trips with grumpy dads in "Are We There Yet?," brother and sister relationships in "Little Sister Blues," children who act goofy in "Put It on My Head" and "The Underwear Song."

Following Silly Joe and his underwear antics, other activities included at the APG event for the day included tie dying, snack making, spray-painting hats and making buggy jewelry.

Officer "Big Mike" Farlow, with APG's Police

Service Division, distributed safety brochures and giveaways, and played a McGruff video for children and parents to watch.

After a grilled hot dog lunch, the Junior Olympics was held, with a 3-legged race, sack race, crab soccer and relay races.

Peeking out from under the brim of the hat she just made, little Nadia Taylor, 23-months old, pointed to her new hat when talking about her favorite part of the day. She attended Stand for Children Day with 'Ms. Nora,' her daycare provider.

For Sissy Walker, 3, she said that making bug jewelry bracelets and necklaces was the highlight of her day. But her brother, Dante, 9, said he enjoyed "racing around with all my friends the best."

Jasmine Pearsall, 9, put the finishing touches of a few feathers onto her hat. "It's beautiful, Jasmine," Aberdeen Center Training and Curriculum specialist Eileen Campbell said to Pearsall.

"It is, thank you," Pearsall whispered back, smiling to Campbell.

Family Child Care is conducting training for new providers from Aberdeen and Edgewood the week of Sept. 12 through 16. Anyone interested in coming to FCC training, or in need of child care can call the FCC Office, 410-278-9832/7477/7140.

Elizabeth Aloisi receives instructions from Eileen Campbell, a training and curriculum specialist from the Aberdeen Child and Development Center, on decorating hats with feathers, pipe cleaners, flowers and tape. Alicia Crewse, right, is managing on her own, while Bradley Bruce, rear, is not sure this is what he wants to do. Lee Mobley, background, a Family Child Care provider, gets the foundation for a hat (a giant coffee filter) ready for the next child.

Letter to the editor

Dear editor:

The other day when I was leaving work I experienced firsthand, the helpfulness of our APG Police Department.

The officers asked that their names not be revealed.

Every day I come through the gate ID checkpoint and am greeted with a smile and a "have a nice day." It doesn't matter the weather—rain, snow, wind, and lately, the blaring sun; they still all maintain their professional demeanor and cheery attitude.

So I just wanted this thank you to be public so others will recognize the great work they are doing here on APG every day, all day, and their coming to my rescue.

Routes 22 and 755 gates closed

Aberdeen Proving Ground's Harford Gate (Maryland Route 22) continues to be closed for renovations. It will remain closed for several weeks.

The Aberdeen Gate (APG Road/Aberdeen Boulevard) is open for inbound traffic only from 4 to 8:30 a.m. It opens for both inbound and outbound traffic from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding federal holidays. Access at this gate is restricted to government ID holders only.

Trucks and visitors must use the Maryland Gate (Maryland Route 715).

The Wise Road Gate (Route 755) is closed until construction is completed. To support traffic flow, the Magnolia Gate has been opened.

The Magnolia Gate hours and entry control is identical to the Wise Road protocol—government ID only, no trucks or deliveries. The Magnolia Gate hours are 4 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday and closed on Saturday, Sunday and federal holidays.

Visitors should continue to use the Route 24 Gate, which is operational 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. Visitors will not be permitted to enter through the Magnolia Gate unless accompanied by a government ID holder.

Delays may be expected at various times.

the Federal Employees Retirement System.

The speaker will give a general overview on retirement to include topics such as military deposit, deposits and redeposits, survivor annuity, etc.

For more information, call Teri Wright, 410-278-4331.

PWOC offers Bible study groups, events

The Protestant Women of the Chapel offer three different Bible Study groups. Join other Christian women Monday evenings at 7 p.m. to study "Proverbs" by Dr. David Jeremiah; Thursday mornings at 9:15 for three different studies: "Calm My Anxious Heart" by Linda Dillow, "Wives of Warriors" by Rhonda Sturgill, and "Answers in Genesis" by Ken Hamm; and the third study meets the first Friday of the month at 7 p.m. and second Saturday of the month at 9 a.m. to study "Restore my heart" by Denise Glenn.

Aug. 29 there will be a potluck dinner and the study will start on Sept. 5.

The Thursday morning study will start 9:30 a.m., Sept. 1, with a fall-kick-off event to include games, skits, praise and worship and lunch. Regular bible study will start on Sept. 8.

Childcare is provided for all Bible study groups.

For more information, call Marcia Larson, 410-272-7425.

Earn money in research studies

Any of the six days listed at the end of the school year (June 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16) not needed as inclement weather/emergency makeup days will be dropped and the last day of the school year will be adjusted accordingly. In addition, if a 6th inclement weather/emergency make-up day is required, April 18 will be used; if a 7th makeup day is needed, March 28 will be used; and, if an 8th makeup day is needed, April 13 will be used.

The school year will not exceed 180 days for students and 190 days for teachers with the last day of the teacher school year adjusted accordingly following the last student day of the year.

Garrison commander's corner

Col. John T. Wright
USAGAPG

As we come to the end of August, we look forward to the start of a new school year.

I encourage everyone to watch for our children as they walk to and stand at their bus stops. Let's keep this school year accident free.

During recent community forums residents expressed a desire to get involved with the schools our students attend. I encourage all parents to get involved with their various home and school associations. Speak with your child's teachers and interact with school officials.

I also encourage you to get involved through the various partnerships our installation activities have with schools throughout our community, like the U.S. Army Environmental Center has with Edgewood Elementary School and the U.S. Army Ordnance Center and Schools has with Roye-Williams Elementary School. You may volunteer to be a speaker or participate in some other way. The opportunities are many and varied.

In September, the APG Garrison will host two open forums for parents to interact with school officials. The session for Aberdeen Area residents will be at the Main Post Chapel, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 14. Edgewood Area residents are invited to attend a session, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 15, at the Edgewood Area Conference Center.

Last month I mentioned the pending national accreditation of the APG Police Department. I am proud to congratulate the department on the announcement of that accreditation.

I also want to congratulate three APG firefighters, chief Edward C. Budnick, fire inspector Thomas S. Stanford and former APG firefighter Robert M. Farrell Sr., previously recognized by the Baltimore Area Federal Executive Board, who now are recipients of the Army Heroism Award. We are all very proud of you.

Finally, I want to extend a welcome to the many new APG residents who arrived here during the summer. Welcome to all of you. Enjoy yourselves as you live, work and play at the top of the bay!

Maintaining drug free vigilance on APG

ASAP

As the Aberdeen Proving Ground community prepares to send its children back to school, purchasing them new clothes, school supplies, and making before and after school care arrangements—it is also important to teach them about making choices for a healthy, drug-free life style.

"Prevention education is a powerful tool in making our nation drug-free," said Cindy Scott, Army Substance Abuse Program coordinator.

"An excellent tool to educate all adults about helping young people when making these critical life choices is an article from Partnership for a Drug Free America, '23 Tips to Keep in Mind,'" Scott said.

It is reprinted on page 13 to aid parents with the daily challenge of constant vigilance.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Scott, 410-278-3784 or Bill Sanchious, 410-278-5319 or visiting the ASAP Web site, <http://130.114.20.112/apg/asap/index.cfm>.

Read Aloud, APG

The most important 20 minutes of a parent's day can be reading aloud to their child. Albert Einstein once said, "Imagination is more important than knowledge."

Reading aloud feeds the imagination and fosters creativity.

Reading aloud tips

Choose a book that is at least 2 to 3 grade levels above the child's reading level. Children can listen to language at a higher level than they can read. Let the child's interests and maturity be the guide to selecting an appropriate book.

Create a special time and place for reading aloud in the home.

Choose a book that is fun and interesting for parent and child. If either is bored, find another book, there's a book for everyone.

Be a ham. Read with expression and feeling—try different voices and sounds. Read slower or faster as the story changes.

Preview the read-aloud book to be sure it has action and emotional impact, and the parent is comfortable with the content.

Sit close together and enjoy each other's company.

Visit the library often and let children help select books for reading aloud. Ask the youth librarian for suggestions.

Encourage children to be involved by talking about the book and sharing feelings.

Make a commitment—it may take time to feel comfortable with reading aloud.

Welcome Back To School

The APG Forum

As the seasons begin to change and school time arrives, the children of the area are gearing up to head back to class. Attendees of the Summer Camp program at Aberdeen Youth Center were asked a number of questions about their summer experiences and their back to school readiness. These questions were: Are you ready to go back to school? What do you look forward to the most? What do you dislike most about school? What do you do after school? What did you do this summer?

Jerome Grinage

Jerome, a 14-year-old 10th grader at Edgewood High School, said that he is sort of ready to go back. He looks forward to meeting new teachers and friends as well as enjoying new subject material. There's really nothing he's not excited about. After school, Jerome likes to do his homework, play basketball with his dad and play video games, when he's not babysitting. Over the summer, he went to Virginia Beach and Six Flags and really enjoyed meeting cousins that he'd never met before.

Mason Anderson

A 12-year-old eighth grader at Havre de Grace Middle School, Mason is definitely not ready to go back to school. He's not looking forward to having a certain teacher, who moved up a grade, for the second year in a row. But, Mason is ready to see his friends again, as he spent most of the summer at the Youth Center going on field trips. He enjoyed his summer, especially the trip to Six Flags. During the school year, he spends his free time at the Boys and Girls Club of Havre de Grace.

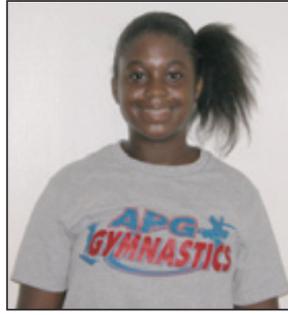

Randy Taylor

Randy is a 14-year-old eighth grade student at Perryville Middle School. After an exciting summer visiting Atlantic City, Virginia Beach and Busch Gardens, Randy is not looking forward to the start of school. He is ready to see his friends and enjoy his science, physical education and art classes, but really hates math. In his sixth year as a football player, Randy enjoys his after school practices.

Jenelle Cann

Jenelle, a 13-year-old Aberdeen High School ninth grader, is kind of ready to go back to school. This summer she attended the camp at the Youth Center and tried out for the school volleyball team though didn't make the cut. Regardless, Jenelle is ready to see her old friends, but not her homework. She just wants to get home from school and play with her dog and her computer, as well as sing and dance.

Julia Wäger

Julia, an Austrian exchange student, is a 16-, "almost 17"-year old who has been staying with a family on post. She has two years left in school once she heads home Aug. 28, but that doesn't really translate into a grade here. School in Austria starts Sept. 15, and Julia does not want to leave the states to go back, even though she misses her friends and family. She's enjoyed learning American customs and comparing the way of life in Aberdeen to that of Austria, especially the food. Julia really liked waffles with syrup for breakfast, she said. While in this country, she got to go to New York City, Washington, D.C. and Detroit, Mich. Once back in Austria, Julia plans to continue school, as she loves to take drama there, and go on plenty of holidays.

A letter to APG parents:

Ivan Mehosky
APG School Liaison Officer

Be sure to attend your child's school 'open house' and 'back to school night.' This is a great way to meet your child's teacher, visit their classroom, meet guidance counselors or key administrative personnel, and see the school first hand.

Take time each evening to talk to your child about the school day. Help them get organized. Go over their schedule, text books, assignments, and anything else they want to talk about.

Homework is a big key to learning and doing well in school. When parents establish a couple of hours each evening for homework assignments and show a real interest and consistency, the child feels the support and is bound to succeed in school. Make sure your child completes the homework assignments in an atmosphere that allows total concentration—turn off the TV and music box; the fewer the distractions, the better.

Even if a teacher has not given an assignment for that evening, have your child read for 45 minutes or read aloud to them.

Whenever extra credit is offered, take advantage of it and go the extra effort.

You can always find something good about each day. Praise your children for effort and accomplishment and good grades. Help them up when they fall and give them something positive to build on.

Each year is different in your child's educational journey. Be their best advocate and treasure helping in that process.

We have some big events coming up in September. On the 14th, at the Aberdeen Post Chapel Garrison and Deputy Installation Commander Col. John T. Wright will host an APG Parents-Harford County Public School Forum 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for parents whose children attend public schools in Aberdeen and Havre de Grace. The same event will be held

STOMP'ing out confusion about special needs

Rebecca J. Chisholm
APG News

STOMP — Specialized Training of Military Parents, is a service that aids parents of special needs children to find the proper assistance for their child while traveling in the service.

With a population of 1.5 million active duty military members around the globe, there are an estimated 540,000 active duty sponsors each caring for a family member with special medical or educational needs.

STOMP is the only National Parent Training and Information Center for military families providing support and advice to parents without regard to the type of medical condition their child has.

Parents of children with special needs face many challenges. These include feelings of isolation and anxiety, difficulty navigating services, severe financial worries and inadequate information.

These challenges are compounded when the family concerned is military.

While all military families face certain challenges such as frequent moves, military members being placed in harm's way and deployments, families with special needs family members face additional difficulties.

Continuity in provision of Individual Education Plan or IEP services from state to state, availability of military member during IEP meetings, medical treatments and procedures, finding specialists and physicians who will take TRI-CARE (military health entitlement program), re-establishing relationships with key medical and educational personnel as well as re-establishing eligibility for community resources to assist child and facing waiting lists for services needed make raising a special needs child in the military especially difficult.

Families of special needs children strive to be strong, committed military members, the majority of whom will make a career of their military experience so that their child can continue to benefit from the entitlements of a military retiree.

Each year thousands of families turn to STOMP for reliable support, information and advice. STOMP strives to empower these families in their vital role as advocates, providing training, information and support.

A federally funded Parent Training and Information Center, STOMP was established to assist military families who have children with special education or health needs.

The staff of the STOMP Project includes parents of children who have disabilities and have experience in raising their children in military communities and traveling with their spouses to different locations.

STOMP serves families by providing information and training about laws, regulations and resources for military families of children with disabilities, connecting families to other families, assisting parents and professionals in developing their own community parent education and support group and providing a voice to raise awareness of issues faced by military families of children with disabilities.

For military families of children with disabilities, STOMP is a one-stop shop for information and training regarding special education and other resources.

The STOMP Project provides information about parent rights and responsibilities in achieving special education services for military children whether located in the United States or overseas. The project also assists military families in accessing resources for their children by enabling them to navigate a variety of educational and medical systems and programs, both military and civilian, regardless of their current duty station or location.

The STOMP Project provides workshops and presentations on a variety of subjects. In the last two years, STOMP has provided workshops all over the world. From Aviano Air Force Base, Italy, to Fort Stewart, Ga., to the Marine Corps EFMP STOMP Training in Washington state, parents and professionals alike from all branches of service have benefited from STOMP training. Each workshop is planned and carefully tailored to best meet the needs and concerns of families at the specific installation/location, taking into account the unique strengths and challenges of the community.

'Kids and drugs' 23 tips to keep in mind

Partnership for a Drug Free America

It can be an overwhelming issue to deal with, but it doesn't have to be. All parents really need to begin are these 23 easy tips. Put them into practice and children will reap the rewards of healthy, drug-free lives.

1. Be the child's greatest fan. Compliment them on all of their efforts, the strength of their character and their individuality.

2. Get children involved in adult-supervised after-school activities. Ask them what types of activities they're interested in and contact the school principal or guidance counselor to find out what activities are available.

Sometimes it takes a bit of experimenting to find out which activities a child is best suited for, but it's worth the effort — feeling competent makes kids much less likely to use drugs.

3. Help children develop tools they can use to get out of alcohol- or drug-related situations. Let them know they can use a parent as an excuse: "My mom would kill me if I drank a beer!"

4. Get to know children's friends and their parents. Set appointments for yourself to call them and check-in to make sure they share your views on alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. Steer children away from any friends who use drugs.

5. Call the parents if their home is to be used for a party. Make sure that the party will be alcohol-free and supervised by adults.

6. Set curfews and enforce them. Let children know the consequences of breaking curfew.

7. Encourage open dialogue with children about their experiences. Make sure children understand that they can ask a parent anything — and that an honest answer will be given.

8. Set a no-use rule for alcohol, tobacco and other drugs.

9. Sit down for dinner with children at least once a week. Use the time to talk — don't eat in front of the TV.

10. Make and enforce clear rules.

11. A lot of rules aren't necessary, but consistently enforce a small number of them with mild, not severe, consequences.

12. Show enormous care about the choices children make about drugs.

13. Plan regular parent-child activities enjoyed by both.

14. Emphasize the things children do right instead of only focusing on what's wrong.

15. Parents who abuse alcohol or other drugs should seek professional help.

16. Talk early and often about drugs, especially about the consequences of using them.

17. Talk with children about the things that are important to them every day.

18. Really listen to children.

19. Take advantage of everyday "teachable moments" to discuss drugs.

20. Arrange to have children looked after or involved in activities from 3 to 6 p.m., the time most trouble occurs.

21. Make sure children who are unattended for periods during the day feel a parent's presence by leaving them notes and talking to them on the phone.

22. Make it easy for a child to leave a place where drugs are being used by offering to pick them up anytime.

23. Be involved in children's lives and have fun with them.

for parents of children that attend public schools in Edgewood 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 15, at the Edgewood Conference Center. This is a great opportunity to meet principals and school board personnel, get first hand information, and address any questions or concerns you may have.

APG is working with local guidance counselors to make them more aware and better able to respond to the challenges that face military connected students moving from one school to another.

With the start of school just days away, now is the time to consider becoming a mentor and making a big difference in the life of a student.

Throughout Harford County, there are students who don't have a dad or mom, students who have a parent deployed overseas, and students who have gotten in with the wrong bunch and are looking for an adult to help them. All it takes is heart and a commitment of 1 to 2 hours a week of your time at a school of your choosing with a student recommended by a guidance counselor. That's all. Simple, right?

Well, if you are interested, please call me. Here are a couple of stories that have come to my attention.

One APG mentor from last year was working with a student at Halls Cross Roads Elementary School, meeting with that student twice a week during the student's lunch period at the school. Come to find out, the student was having trouble with assignments and just generally frustrated. So the mentor started playing chess with that student over lunch, teaching the basics and then actually playing. Six weeks later a dramatic change took place whereby the student became more focused on his studies and his grades showed steady improvement.

A student at Edgewood Middle School was having anger issues that affected his personality and grades. His dad is in the National Guard and was deployed to Iraq. When a guidance counselor called me for help, I immediately got hold of an APG employee who had earlier expressed an interest. Meeting once per week at the school, the mentor's concern for the student began to take root.

The attitude of the student began to change for the better and pretty soon he wanted to play football but didn't know how to get on a team. They made an agreement: the mentor would get all the information about the program and how to register, and the student would work harder on his grades and homework assignments. The student is now playing recreational football and, more importantly, his grades and attitude toward school have grown noticeably positive. He's no A student by any means, but he gave his best, steady effort and ended the school year with a C plus in all subjects.

Two mentors, two students, two wonderful outcomes—all because someone wanted to help. Can you help us this year?

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

APG offers Geography Challenge 'TOP 50'

How well do children know their geography? According to the latest research, American students are ranked last among the students of all ages from around the world.

One way to help students improve their geography knowledge and improve in school is to have them take the APG Geography Challenge 'TOP 50, a series of challenging geography questions that require students to use their skills in finding answers using maps, the world globe and other visual aids within a one-hour time limit. All answers must be placed on the practice map and answer sheet as supplied. Participants who answer 44 to 50 correct will receive a first place trophy. A second place medallion will be awarded for 36 to 43 correct answers, a third place medallion for 26 to 35 correct answers, and a participation award will be given for 18 to 25 correct answers. Any student who scores 100 percent will receive a trophy.

If interested, call Ivan Mehosky, 410-278-2857, to set up a time and date to take the APG Geography Challenge.

Night out

pared dozens of cupcakes for the celebration.

Farlow thanked attendees and presented the neighborhoods newest residents with 'The Club,' a vehicle theft prevention device that locks onto the steering wheel.

Staff Sgt. Robert Bauerle, 389th Army Band (AMC's Own) moved into his Flag Court home the week before with his wife and four children. This is his second tour at APG.

"We moved in last week and Big Mike came down to tell us about this," Bauerle said. "We didn't realize there was a community police house in the area. We were wondering about all the police cars down here all the time."

He added that the installation had changed since he left in 2001.

"It's nice to have a more visible police presence, especially if you're a parent," he said.

Farlow thanked volunteers and fellow officers for their support of the first NNO observance.

"Tonight we promoted awareness and sent a message that we are united to stamp out crime," Farlow said.

APG police get chariots

A surprise treat at the NNO observance for area youths was the introduction of the newest addition to the DLES crime-fighting arsenal, a police chariot, one of two now operating on the installation.

Officer Jim Toscano rode to the site on the new vehicle that resembles a Roman-era chariot and was immediately surrounded by curious children. He said the vehicles, which were first used during last week's concert, travel at speeds up to 20 miles per hour on a 24-volt battery. The chariots have hand-operated throttles and brake systems and drivers must be helmeted while they are in operation.

"These are good for special events because they place officers closer to the crowd yet keeps them mobile," Toscano said.

The DLES is testing the chariots for the U.S. Army

Research Development and Engineering Command, which will report its findings to the National Automotive Command, formerly Tank Automotive Center, said Sgt. 1st Class Stephen Kontak, DLES operations NCO.

"There is no cost to DLES except maintenance," Kontak said, adding that "High visibility at events," is the primary focus for the chariots.

"They're also good for everyday use, like at the bus stop with children," he said. "Like a bicycle, this makes you more approachable and anytime you can make kids comfortable around law enforcement officers, that's important."

The Birth of National Night Out

www.nationalnightout.org

The "22nd Annual National Night Out," a unique crime/drug prevention event sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch (NATW), was observed Aug. 2.

The NATW introduced NNO in 1984 in an effort to heighten awareness and strengthen participation in local anticrime efforts with a high profile, high-impact type of crime prevention event.

The first year, 400 communities in 23 states took part in NNO. The event has since grown to involve more than 34 million people in over 10,000 communities from all 50 states, U.S. territories, Canadian cities and military installations worldwide.

While the traditional 'lights on' and front porch vigils remain a part of NNO, activities have expanded considerably over the years to include block parties, cookouts, parades, visits from police officers, festivals, neighborhood walks, safety fairs, contests, rallies and meetings.

While the one night is certainly not an answer to crime, drugs and violence, NNO does represent the kind of spirit, energy and determination that is helping to make many neighborhoods safer places throughout the year.

It is a night to celebrate crime prevention successes - and to expand and strengthen programs for the next 364 days.

Bus safety

will have to follow some rules:

- Remain seated at all times while the bus is moving.
- Keep the aisles clear.
- Do not shout, yell or sing, it could distract the bus driver.
- Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before exiting.
- Avoid the danger zone. Children should walk 10 giant steps in front of the bus so the driver can see them clearly.
- Wait for the driver's signal before crossing in front of the bus. Be sure to look LEFT-RIGHT-LEFT to see that all cars have stopped.

Safety steps parents can take

Supervise children to make sure they get to the stop on time, wait far away from the road and avoid rough play.

Teach children to ask the driver for help if he/she drops something near the bus. If a child bends down to pick up something, the driver cannot see him/her and the child may be hit by the bus. Have children use a backpack or book bag to keep loose items together.

Make sure clothing and backpacks have no loose drawstrings or long straps, to get caught in the handrail or bus door.

Encourage safe school bus loading and unloading.

If parents think a bus stop is in a dangerous place, talk with the school office or transportation director about changing the location.

Learn, follow school bus stop laws

Laws exist to protect children getting on and off the bus AND [avoid] tragedy. Here are some rules:

Vehicles must stop when the bus displays flashing red warning lights and extends the stop signal arm. Vehicles may not pass until the flashing red lights and signals are turned off.

Vehicles following or meeting a bus on two-lane roads are always required to stop.

Never pass on the right side of the bus, where children enter or exit. This is illegal and can have tragic results.

Violation of these laws can result in a citation and fine.

Back-to-school nutrition tips

1st Lt. Shannan Gormley
Darnall Army Community Hospital

The beginning of the school year is an opportunity to develop healthy eating patterns for children.

Creating a consistent meal pattern can be difficult with the family's busy schedule. Keep in mind that establishing a routine may be time-consuming at first, but should be easy to maintain.

Helpful tips for creating a healthy eating behavior in school:

1. Eat breakfast every day. Not only does eating breakfast give the brain energy to function, it's also the best way to jump-start the metabolism. Breakfast doesn't need to be complicated. Eating a cereal bar, yogurt or piece of fruit is a quick and easy meal for on-the-go families.
2. Take an extra 10 minutes to pack a lunch. Most parents would agree that children don't often make the most balanced choices in the lunch line. Packing a meal ahead of time will help reduce those high-calorie choices at lunch.
3. Get rid of juices, fruit drinks and soda in the house. "All-natural" juices aren't always as the label promises. These drinks are typically high in sugar and calories.

4. Don't eat in front of the television. The average American spends about 40 hours a week watching television. Take a 30-minute break from watching television and spend it, instead, eating together as a family or enjoy an activity. Many people find themselves eating simply out of boredom while watching television.

5. Provide healthy foods for after-school snacks. Substitute pretzels for chips and fruit for cookies or candy. After-school snacking is an easy way to ensure that no more than three to five hours pass between meals. This can help prevent over-eating at dinner and will provide the energy needed for after-school activities.

Getting off to a good start at the beginning of the school year will help establish positive eating patterns. These five suggestions are simple ways to keep on track with healthy eating during the school year.

Morale, Welfare & Recreation

Tournament yields little fish but lots of fun

Family member James Howard, 16, waits patiently while hoping to reel in a big one.

Story and photos by
Yvonne Johnson
APG News

Despite temperatures in the 90s and even higher humidity, several Aberdeen Proving Ground Soldiers and civilians braved the elements to participate in the Morale, Welfare and Recreation fishing tournament held at the Gunpowder boat docks Aug. 14.

Charles Heinsohn, MWR program specialist, hosted the event and had plenty of sodas, sandwiches and chips for the dedicated fishermen and women.

First place went to Sgt. 1st Class Viktor Vaupel, Company A, 143rd Ordnance Battalion.

Vaupel's wife Lori split the second place prize with Staff Sgt. Henry Jackson, Company A, 16th Ordnance Battalion.

The pickings were slim that day, as the top catch weighed only one-half pound.

A drill sergeant who transported two Soldiers with him to the tournament, Jackson said he fishes often but that it was his first try at the Gunpowder River.

"It's an okay location but all the vegetation is tricky to work with," Jackson said in reference to the abundant submerged aquatic vegetation that repeatedly caught on participants' hooks.

Sgt. 1st Class Darrick Madison, a drill sergeant with Company C, 143rd Ordnance Battalion, brought three Soldiers, Pvts. Jonathan Bringham, Timothy Szeszka and Chance Moore. The young troops stocked up on live bait, Gatorade and snacks but didn't have much luck pulling anything out of the water.

"Not much is biting today but it's better than just hanging around the barracks," Bringham said.

Sixteen year-old James Howard, the son of Air Force retiree Phyllis Howard, said he came out because "this is what I love to do."

"It's my first time here," Howard said. "All I caught was three little ones but I'll be back.

Pvt. Jonathan Bringham, Company C, 143rd Ordnance Battalion, shows off a small fish he caught in the Gunpowder River during the fishing tournament hosted by Morale, Welfare and Recreation Aug. 14.

The following is a list of some new books available at the APG MWR Library:

Pirate by Ted Bell

When Alex Hawks uncovers a scheme involving one of America's allies that is meant not only to ensure China's international supremacy, but also to topple America itself, he works with British Naval Intelligence and the CIA to save the free world.

Cold Hit by Stephen J. Cannell

After the FBI removes Shane Scully from a serial killer case, he teams up with his wife to go outside the law and deep undercover to solve the murders.

Sweetwater Creek by Anne Rivers

Siddons

Lilly is living a quiet life on a plantation with her father and brothers, but everything changes when Lulu Wentworth comes from Charleston to spend a summer in the low country, bringing a dark secret with her that will inevitably blow Lilly's world apart.

The library's Web site, www.apgmwr.com/recreation/libraries.html, provides access to the library's online catalog and also has a complete annotated listing of the library's new material, as well as a list of available films on DVD.
